

Designers participating in Archbishop Molloy's Inaugural Fashion Show

Abbey Glass designed by Abbey Glass can be purchased on her website www.abbey-glass.com

Although she is a relative newcomer to the fashion industry, Abbey designs like the masters. Her style is soft, classic, a bit funky, and a whole lot old-school glamour. Abbey graduated from Rhode Island School of Design 2012 and planted her flagship store in the city of her roots-Atlanta, Georgia.

Curete Collection is the culmination of team effort and is available online at www.curete.com .

This luxury women's apparel brand is unique and they welcome modern Fashion Entrepreneurs to join them; so go online and please inquire! Proudly designing and manufacturing in the United States, their belief is that fashion should provide a feeling of unique sophistication.

Donna Degnan, designed by Donna Degnan, can be purchased at www.lonnys.com

Donna walks the walk and talks the talk. She lives and creates her collection in the heart of the garment district in NYC and has earned bragging rights. Her decades of experience are evident in the details, the fit, and the incredible fabric selections. Her collection is Donna's vision for today's women-- graceful, poised, strong and effortless! Donna is a veteran of the famous Fashion Institute of Technology in the late 90's and continues to be a powerhouse in the industry.

Everly is designed by the dynamic duo of Fabiana Choi and Adriana Leaw, available at www.shoptique.com

They believe in looking good, feeling good, doing good, and sisterhood. The Everly girl is a young contemporary woman who inspires others, is confident and, if she fails, is not afraid to try again.

F.H. Clothing Co. designed by Joan Ecker has found a homegrown recipe for success! It is available at www.fathat.com Joan is full of inspiration fueled by her innate sense of humor and drive to succeed. Her designs are fluid, generous and drape beautifully in just the right places. Her philosophy-- "after all these years it strikes me were not making and selling clothing at all...we're selling our sense of humor, our independent Vermont lifestyle, and our comfortable attitude about dressing- clothing is just how it's packaged." Joan is a graduate of Boston University and shares the business with her two daughters.

Habitat Clothes are designed by owner Suzanne Williams and are available online www.habitatclothes.com

This chic clothing collection is for real women who are leading real lives and looking for fresh stylish pieces to mix and match with what's already in their wardrobe. This season, Habitat's focus was on travel friendly textures, beautiful prints, and unique buttons to take you wherever your lifestyle transports you.

Heydari – Miriam Heydari is the architect behind this artful collection at www.heydaridc.com.

Email sarah@heydaridc.com for purchases and browse her website to see more of her asymmetrical designs with free-flowing elegance. You will be delighted to see Miriam's unique fabric choices.

Minan Wong --Spring has sprung and so has Minan Wong; see her full collection at www.minanwong.com

Also enjoy 30% off her website when you order. Use code "thankyougirls". This New Yorker is known for her creative flair and smart sassy clothes that celebrate women. Minan Wong is a sustainable womenswear brand based in NYC and each piece she creates supports her vision of empowering her lovely ladies.

Niche -designed by Nilgun Derman; visit www.nichclothing.com to see their collection.

This designer is celebrating 20 years of successfully producing her brand, of minimalist clothing with clean lines and sophistication, in her home town of Austin, Texas where they've located their flagship store in the historic Pearl Brewery. Nilgun brings inspiration from her love of architecture to the drawing board when she is designing each collection and selecting fabrics with rich textures and colors. She remains unstoppable!